

I strongly believe that the current ban on cellphone use on airplanes should be kept in place. Besides the questions on safety issues and interference with airplane electronics, I am very concerned about the impact a plane full of cellphone users would have on fellow passengers. Airplanes are already very crowded and tension levels are high. Air-rage problems are a real issue given the overcrowded conditions, the high security mess, and the generally poor service.

Please do not remove the ban on cellphones on airplanes.

Thx,
Bill Eldridge
